JAMES HARPER GRIER, PRESIDENT

May 15, 1938

Dear Dr. Robinson:

It is with no small amount of pride that we, the class of 1939, dedicate this yearbook to you. As one of the faculty who has watched Monmouth progress and increase during the years; as one who has given time and effort to the building of an educational edifice, and as one who has during the years not only endeared himself with the students, but made a lasting mark on the outside world, we consider it only a fitting and proper action to render you in a small way our deep appreciation.

At best a yearbook is a transitory thing, to be cherished by the present and looked at by the future, but the sentiments expressed on this and other pages is not of the transitory type. You have made your mark on the ideals, ambitions and living plans of the students who have passed in and out of your classroom. For those impressions received and used to a full account, we thank you. For your own impressions and mode of living, we admire you. For your success as an educator, author and gentleman, we congratulate you. For all of them, because of all of them, we dedicate this book to you.

... THE ORCHESTRA

Under the capable direction of Mr. Loya, the Monmouth College Orchestra has developed materially during the past year. This year, according to custom, the orchestra presented two concerts, one in the fall and another in the late spring.

Mr. Loya has started an ensemble with a string quartette as a nucleus. The quartette consists of Maryetta Chapman, Lucille Leonard, Frances Finstrom and Mary Rogers.

In previous years the orchestra has been composed of a large number of townspeople, but at the present time it is almost entirely a college organization.

MINSTREL . . .

In keeping with tradition the college choir presented its annual minstrel show on George Washington's birthday, February 22, under the direction of Glenn Shaver. In an effort to get away from the more formalized type of show Mr. Shaver, with the capable assistance of Herbert Doerschuk and Fred James, planned and executed the show in the form of a "Plantation" scene. The entire action took place in front of a set of an old colonial style house.

The program was as follows:

Introduction Southern Folk Songs
Sing You Sinners Jim Owen
Tap Specialty Mary Fraser
King Jesus Choir, Henry Kubik directing
Kentucky Babe James, Schlaretzki,
Fink, Russell
Comic Skit Flash Morgan
A Spring Fancy Evelyn Beattie
Selections Deming's Hawaiian Entertainers

Finale Songs of the South

PERSONNEL

STRING GROUP—Kalivoda, Doerschuk, Forbiger, Demus. PIANISTS—Stanton, McIntyre. CHARACTERS—The Colonel, (Tim Campbell), his daughter Lucy (Evelyn Beattie), her sugar (Laverne McKee). COLORED COMEDIANS—Merriam, Marshall, Cleland, Rubino, Russell, Doerschuk, Fink, James, Schlaretzki, Picken, Senne, Davey, Kubik.

MESSIAH AND CHOIR . . .

Instead of the Messiah being given alone this year the program was an all-Handel program with choruses from the Messiah interwoven. The program was presented by the combined college choir and choral society on the night of December 9.

A trio composed of Jeannette Patchin, Henry Kubik, and Mr. Loya, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Peterson, played a Trio by Bach, the Andante and Allegro movements. Mr. Glenn Shaver sang "O Ruddier Than the Cherry" by Handel and Evelyn Beattie sang the oratorio "Nell Dole Dell' Oblio" by the same composer.

The choral societies, under the direction of Mr. Hamilton presented several choruses from the Messiah with soloists Helen Wagner and Isabel Bollman. Miss Riggs, Wiley Prugh and the college orchestra accompanied the chorus.

The A Capella Choir was organized again under the same plan as last year which merged the men's and women's glee clubs. Approximately sixty-five members compose the choir which provides sacred music for the college vesper services.

Thirty-two members were selected for the annual spring tour which included programs presented in West Allis, Wisconsin, suburbs of Chicago, and numerous towns in northern Illinois.

SPEECH . . .

. . . WOMEN'S DEBATE

During the year Monmouth College was ably represented in women's debate by Ila Porter, Lola Newman, Lois Lindsay, Jean Surratt, Martha Jean Powell and Mary Agnes Campbell. The question that was argued pro and con among colleges and debating meets was, Resolved: That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration in all industrial disputes. Many of the debates were non-decision affairs with the women capably supporting its arguments in every contest in which they entered.

Under the expert direction of Miss Liedman, women's debate teams played host to such colleges as Knox, Carthage, Coe, Beloit, Union University, Washington University, Macalester College, Ottawa University, Blackburn College and Macmurray College during the year. This is Miss Liedman's second year as adviser for the organization.

During the current year Betty Dodge entered in the state oratorical contest held at Naperville, Illinois, with an oration entitled, "For the Fun of It," and Martha Jane Powell entered in the extemporaneous division.

TRAVELING 33'

... MEN'S DEBATE

Glenn Work, Fred James, Dave Park, Dan Whitmarsh, John Harney, Charles Campbell and Robert Fink represented Monmouth College in debating during the past year. The subject was, Resolved: That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration in all industrial disputes.

The men took part in fifty-seven debates, some of them being non-decision meets, but on the whole according to Miss Liedman, faculty adviser for the group, the debaters were greatly improved over last year's team.

John Martin took third place in the State Oratorical Contest with an oration entitled "Step Up and Pay." Dave Park was also a member of the extemporaneous team that went to the State Contest at Naperville, Illinois.

Monmouth played host to the same teams generally as those of the women, including Knox, Carthage, Coe, Beloit, Washington University, Blackburn College, Ottawa University, Macalester College and Union University.

PI KAPPA DELTA...

This year as far as debaters, orators and extemporaneous speakers were concerned, all roads led to Topeka, Kansas, and the Pi Kappa Delta National Convention which was held on April 18-22. Mary Agnes Campbell, Martha Jane Powell, Dan Whitmarsh and Charles Campbell represented Monmouth in debate and Henry Kubik in oratory.

In the oratorical division Henry Kubik reached the semi-finals of the National Meet.

He also was successful in passing an original bill through the Student Congress. This organization convened for the first time this year and went through the regular procedure of such a body in the presenting, the drafting, the discussing in committee and the rejecting or passing of bills. The State Capitol of Kansas and the legislative hall in particular was turned over to the Pi Kappa Delta convention.

... CRIMSON MASQUE

Crimson Masque, symbolical of fine entertainment, plays a very important part in the educational program as well as the outside activities program of Monmouth College. The Masque had its origin several years ago for the avowed purpose of "bringing a finer appreciation of good drama before the students, for providing an opportunity for the development of skill in acting and in order that power and poise might be acquired through self-expression." Members are chosen on the standards of dramatic ability and scholarship.

The members of the Crimson Masque keep quite busy putting on five sterling performances a year. All the phases of play production are carried out by the students, including the acting, some directing, most of the carpentering, scene planning and painting, the designing of costumes, the art of make-up, and finally, the scene-shifting. Two students take care of the electrical phase of the work.

Miss Ruth Williams, faculty director of Crimson Masque, has brought this organization to such a point that it is entirely self-supporting, through the dues of its members and the proceeds from productions. The Little Theatre, home of Crimson Masque, and all properties belong to the Masque. Truly Crimson Masque is an amateur college organization with a professional air of finesse about it.

National Collegiate Players represents the best in undergraduate dramatic work in colleges and universities all over the country. The members are chosen for their ability in all the various lines of dramatic production, and the society is present only on campuses where the college dramatic organization is in accredited collegiate standing and accomplishes superior work.

Due to its reduced membership during the past two years N. C. P. has not presented a play of its own, but each of its members have had leading roles in plays put on by Crimson Masque this year. Mary Agnes Campbell had a lead in "Twelfth Night," Martha Jane Powell and Tim Campbell had leads in "The Admirable Crichton," and Lorraine Laxson played a leading part in "Cradle Song."

The purpose of Sigma Omicron Mu has always been "to raise the standards of scholarship in Monmouth College and to furnish an incentive for maintaining the ideals and culture toward which a liberal arts education should aspire." The requirements in character, scholarship, and ability exceed those for the national honorary society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Sigma Omicron Mu was founded in 1926. Its roster boasts faculty Phi Beta Kappa, and Sigma Xi members. It has fostered the development of two freshman scholarship fraternities, Phi Eta Mu for men, and Pi Gamma Pi for women.

Juniors and seniors who have achieved the high standards of the organization are publicly recognized on Scholarship Day, held once each semester, at a traditional "tapping" service.

In April, 1926, the Rho Alpha chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, national professional English fraternity, was established at Monmouth College. The aims of the group are stated in the preamble to the constitution: To promote the mastery of written expression, encourage worth while reading, and foster a spirit of fellowship among those specializing in English language and literature.

Membership in the chapter is limited to twenty-five majors and minors in English. Those students who have shown outstanding creative work, who have met all publication requirements (1,000 words) and who have a scholastic standing of "B" are eligible for membership.

Monthly meetings are held at which papers are read by the various members of the group. During the past year papers have been based on the general theme of "Creation," with the following divisions: Observation, Fact, Imagination, and Philosophy.

The Sigma Tau Delta Contest for Freshmen is held in the spring of each year to encourage creative writing among under-classmen.

"Y" CABINETS . . .

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. of Monmouth College are two organizations which attempt through their separate and cooperative activities, to develop Christian personality. Their interests and services to the college campus are numerous and varied.

Cooperatively, they publish the Red Book, plan the Monday night C. C. A., sponsor a book sale each semester, give a formal reception each fall, do social work at the city "Y", sponsor the Mothers' Day Vespers, and engage speakers for the college campus which this year included Dean Graham, Dr. C. J. Williamson, George Campbell, and Dean King.

Y. W. C. A. supervises the "Campus Sister" plan for the freshman women, holds two meetings each month for all college women, presents a fall and spring style show, and sponsors the Easter Sunrise service.

Y. M. C. A. organizes and sends out gospel teams to surrounding churches and plans monthly meetings for all the men of the college.

Members of Tau Pi, senior women's honorary organization, are selected on a three-fold basis: leadership, scholarship, and service. New members are chosen at the end of their junior year and function in their senior year. Five to twelve new members may be taken in.

The annual Tau Pi Tea has been one of the outstanding campus social functions for a number of years. This year's tea was in the interest of the now very real student lounge. A colonial theme was carried out in the decorations, and a modern theme in ticket distribution—the girls bought the tickets.

Every month informal meetings are held over breakfast at Hawcock's. Traditional autographed rolling pins were presented this year to Ruth Nelson and Lorraine Laxson.

Teas are held in the fall and spring for all freshman girls who have attained a certain scholastic average and a loving cup is presented in the spring to the freshman girl most outstanding in the three requisites for membership in the group.

OCTOPUS . . .

Distinctive on the Monmouth Campus is the Order of the Octopus, honorary secret society of senior men. Founded March 27, 1928, the Octopus Club has functioned as a dominant force on the campus for the past ten years.

The eight senior men who have been honored by election to the organization are announced each year in the Ravelings. These men are chosen for outstanding character, personality, and leadership from the junior class. During their last year in school, they represent the Alumni organization of the club on the Monmouth campus.

Recognition of the new members allows them the right to wear the emblem—a gold key with an octopus and other secret insignia inscribed upon it.

The Pan-Hellenic Council was organized for the purpose of promoting better understanding as well as better relations between the various Greek letter women's organizations on the Monmouth College campus. Two members from each group are selected to comprise this unit, along with an alumna member from each sorority.

Perhaps the two most important functions of the organizations are with respect to freshmen women. The council sponsors the annual Pan-Hellenic Tea which is given for incoming freshman women early in the fall. It also has charge of all rushing regulations, making out a schedule of rush parties and enforcing the so-called "quiet period" between rushing and pledging.

The Interfraternity Council is, as its name implies, a group representing the three fraternities on the Monmouth campus. Its purpose is to discuss and promote good will between the various organizations.

The early part of the school year is the most active for this organization, for it is at this time that it directs the rushing of new members to the three groups. It arranges a schedule of dinners and banquets and supervises the quiet period which ends the two weeks of rushing.

It also promotes various other college activities such as exchange dinners, exchanging guests at the various fraternity parties, and rather infrequent Wallace Hall open houses.

It is through this organization that a spirit of brotherhood is promoted on the campus.

The hub of athletic participation among the women of Monmouth College and one which works hand in hand with the W. A. A., is the Pep Club. This organization, whose membership is limited to twenty-five, supports intercollegiate athletics by various methods—rousing school spirit among the student body, giving stunts in chapel before important athletic contests, sponsoring an open house, helping with the Homecoming parade and leading the cheering in the Homecoming football game. The women who are members of the Pep Club wear sweaters emblematic of their position in the organization.

STUDENT COUNCIL . . .

 SECRETARY MARY ALICE HILL

To stimulate a closer relationship between the administration, faculty and students is the aim carried out by the Student Council.

The officers of the student body association are the officers of the Student Council. The rest of the membership includes the four class presidents, Forensic Board president, the house president of McMichael Home, Oracle editor, a representative from the W. A. A., a senior representative from the Athletic Board, and one elected representative from each of the four classes, other than the presidents. At their bi-monthly meetings the Student Council plans student projects and enacts any legislation sanctioned by the students, faculty, or senate.

Among the projects successfully culminated this year by the council was the dedication of the long awaited "Murray Lounge," permission for an all-school dance, and optional class attendance for all students.

Although these projects have been in the making for sometime, it was through the aggressiveness of this year's council that they became a reality.

Alpha Xi Delta was brought to the Monmouth campus on May 27, 1932 when 37 active and alumna members of Phi Delta Sigma were initiated into Beta Epsilon chapter. The Monmouth chapter is fortunate in having Mrs. Alice Bruner, one of the founders of Alpha Xi Delta, as an adviser.

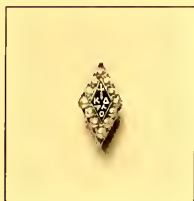

Since the Alpha Xi Delta chapter has been established on Monmouth campus more than four score young women have worn its golden quill. Nationally, Alpha Xi Delta has expanded to 57 active chapters and 68 alumna organizations.

Alpha Xi Delta's are active in the extra-curricular organizations of the entire campus. Her float in the Homecoming Parade this year won first place for being the most beautiful entry.

Kappa Delta was founded on October 23, 1897 at Farmville, Virginia. There are 15,000 members, with 69 active chapters and 150 alumni groups. In October, 1936 twenty-three members of Theta Chi Mu were initiated into Beta Gamma chapter of Kappa Delta at Monmouth College.

This fall work was completed on the new chapter room at the Terrace. The room is modernistically designed in olive green and white, the sorority colors.

Kappa Delta maintains a high scholarship average and has in its possession the Kiwanis Scholarship cup which it has won for eight of the last nine semesters.

Features of Kappa Delta social life are the annual fall and spring formals, monthly "Olive Binges" and Sorority Sings.

It was in Monmouth's "Old Main Hall" in the year 1870 that four girls gathered for the purpose of organizing a Greek letter society to which they felt they were entitled since men's fraternities already existed on the campus. Since this memorable year the group which started so small has come to include over 24,000 members.

Alpha chapter as it now exists came into being in 1934 when 34 members of Kappa Alpha Sigma, which had existed on the Monmouth campus for 30 years as a local sorority, succeeded in regaining their charter and were installed as Alpha chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The present group, following the example set by its founders, is active on the campus.

The annual fall and spring formals as well as the monthly "pretzel benders" are eagerly anticipated by every Kappa.

At Monmouth College seventy-one years ago, twelve girls walked down the chapel aisle wearing golden arrows in their hair. This unprecedented action caused so much excitement that chapel was abandoned for that day. Such was the beginning of Pi Beta Phi, the first women's organization modeled after men's fraternities.

Because of faculty regulations, Pi Beta Phi left Monmouth in 1884 and forty-three years passed until it returned to its original home. From this simple beginning Pi Beta Phi has grown until now it numbers 80 chapters in all sections of the United States and Canada.

To Illinois Alpha at Monmouth remains the responsibility of keeping alive the traditions of the fraternity. The Twelfth Night Dinner Dance with the flaming plum pudding, the monthly "cookie-shines" with everyone singing, Founders' Day held in the original setting and the Commencement Tea, are fast becoming "institutionalized."

Pi Chapter of Beta Kappa was founded on the Monmouth campus in 1926, when Xi Gamma Delta was taken into the National fraternity.

That Beta Kappa occupies a strong position nationally, having forty-three active chapters in twenty-seven states, is acknowledged. The Monmouth chapter of this fraternity was awarded the scholarship trophy by the National Council of Beta Kappa for the year 1936-37. Pi Chapter also played host to the Midwest Province Conclave in February of 1938.

The Monmouth Chapter, in keeping with the ideals of Beta Kappa, stresses congeniality, clean living, and Christian ideals among its members.

Tau Kappa Epsilon marks its tenth year as a National fraternity on the Monmouth campus, making its first appearance here on March 20, 1928. However, it was not officially installed until the fall of the following school year. Alpha-Epsilon chapter of this organization was formerly a local fraternity, Phi Sigma Alpha.

The history of the national dates back to January 10, 1899 when the foundation of the present structure was laid at the Alpha chapter, Illinois Wesleyan, Bloomington, Illinois. The organization has gained a strong foothold in the fraternity world through these years so that at present there are forty-three chapter located in universities and colleges throughout the country.

The origin of Phi Kappa Pi dates back to the sub-torsia period of fraternities at Monmouth College, when it was founded by eight men in 1885. It is in commemoration of this group that the fraternity of today uses as its pledge pin a "big 8". In 1890 it was formally organized as Theta Sigma Pi, but in 1902 the name was changed to Phi Kappa Pi.

With the help of an unusually strong alumni association the present house, one of the finest in the middle west, was completed in 1928.

VARSITY FOOTBALL . . .

With a record of fifty-six points to its opponents' twelve, Monmouth's last Hart-coached football squad ended the season with a total of four wins, one loss, and four ties, three of which were scoreless. Despite a long, hard season, played on mud, on frozen fields, with sleet on the ball and with a long list of injuries sapping the strength of the team, the Monmouth Fighting Scots awarded letters to members of one of their characteristic hard fighting teams.

With the close of the football season six seniors laid aside their cleats for the last time in their college careers. All have been regulars on the team for three years, giving their best, game after game, keeping up a high morale, weathering the vicissitudes of injuries, scholastic requirements, financial difficulties, and co-educational worries, somewhat seathed and scarred, but better and more virile men because of those experiences.

Playing in two hard fought games allowed by the rules of the Illinois Collegiate Conference, the Baby Scots came through with a draw. Losing a close first game with the Knox yearlings, they came through in the second to defeat the Augustana freshmen.

This year's squad was ably coached by Roy Newbury and Forrest Boothby who spent

The Women's Athletic Association encourages good sportsmanship and the development of healthy bodies and minds. A program of sports is planned and carried out for the year.

Membership is open to all girls who have earned a total of 200 points including three sports, or 40 hours active participation. An "M" letter is awarded for 1200 points and a letter and sweater for 1500. Mary Fraser, Kate Parker, Ila Dingwell are sweater winners.

The freshman team won the basketball tournament with sophomores in second place. Class captains were: Junior-Senior, Dorothy Mack; Sophomore, Ila Dingwell; Freshman, Joan Martin. Basketball manager for the year was Phyllis Wilson.

The W. A. has been seeking to establish friendly relations with the girls of other schools as a common feeling of good will and sportsmanship on hockey field or basketball court serves as an excellent means of promoting good feeling between schools.

The water pageant this year was in the form of a circus and under the direction of Betty Smith and Isabelle Brainard. Highlights of the evening were the amusing antics of the clowns, Ruth Moffet, Marian Burgess and Bette Smith, and the graceful diving of Martha Campbell, Isabelle Brainard, and Charles Merrell—the first man ever to appear in this strictly feminine activity.

Monmouth College

MONMOUTH, ILLINOIS

An Institution of Distinction

GOOD EQUIPMENT

Monmouth College has good equipment. The buildings are modern. The resources in laboratory, classroom, library, office, etc., are excellent. The campus has a distinctive beauty.

STRONG FACULTY

With its whole program based upon a faculty of cultured men and women who are effective leaders as well as outstanding teachers, Monmouth presents her claims to attention and consideration with considerable pride.

HIGH SCHOLASTIC POSITION

Monmouth holds high place in the scholastic world with long and continuous approval by the great educational associations. That this position is merited is shown by the outstanding record of her alumni in the graduate and professional schools.

MODERATE COSTS

Few Colleges anywhere with these advantages in equipment, faculty, educational standing have been able to keep their costs so low. Not only are the tuitions and fees kept at a moderate figure but the total cost of a college course at Monmouth is lower than that of most colleges of similar rank and standing.

COURSES OF STUDY

Monmouth's four year liberal arts course leads to the Bachelor of Arts degree with fields of concentration in Bible and Religion, Biology, Business Administration, Chemistry, Economics, Education, English, French, German, Greek, History, Latin, Mathematics, Modern Languages, Music, Philosophy and Psychology, Physics and Geology, Political Science, Public Speech, Social Science, Spanish.

BUSINESS

At Monmouth College there are particular advantages in securing training in accounting, business administration, business law, investments and finance and other courses preparatory to business. Courses which have vocational value are accompanied by others which provide the fundamentals of a liberal education. The educational policy is designed to develop powers which make a man resourceful and independent in his thinking, not merely a routine worker.

Monmouth offers more than twenty different courses in the field of business. A booklet describing these courses, outlining a suggested course of study and showing the various fields of business for which Monmouth training prepares, has just been printed. If you are interested in business write for it.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT . . .

After some hundred odd pages of writing about other people we have at last come to our very own page. Herein we can say what we want to and how we want to say it.

Putting out a yearbook is a lot of fun but it's hard work too. So hard, in fact, that it can't be done by one person. Consequently we want to express our heartfelt thanks to just a few of the people without whose help and inspiration this book would never have been possible.

Our sincerest thanks go to Dr. Sherrick, Fing Melburg, and, of course, Agnes and Myra. Without the good Doctor to shove, push and occasionally drag us forward, the 1939 RAVELINGS would probably have been published sometime in late July, while without Fing to laugh at our pictures, photography would have indeed been drab. We thank you again very much.

To Amy, Chev, Tweets, and the rest of the staff we can only say, "You were swell. Thanks."

Web Johnston, Art, and all the rest of the boys at the Commercial Art Press, Anse Cox of the Grubb Engraving Co., and Mr. Swatek of Kingsport Press all did their very important parts well and we truly appreciate their services too.

The page grows short, our fingers are tired, and so, probably, are you. We hope you like it.

JOHNNY MARTIN.

SIX FEET-TWO

NOT A HIGH JUMP RECORD, BUT THE MEASURE OF A MAN!

A man who in fourteen years of service to Monmouth College has carved out for himself an enviable place in the records of this old and glorious institution. No tablet has been erected in his memory—no buildings bear his name, but etched in the memory of the citizens and students of Monmouth will be this man of Spartan character and unswerving honesty.

His citation to the halls of fame of Monmouth College will not come because of the many games won or the thousands of dollars garnered from an admiring populace, but rather for the Era of Ethics he established in the athletic program of Monmouth College. As the shadow of his tall form fell across the campus a new spirit seemed to come to Monmouth. Sport fans soon realized that a new day had arrived—no more bell-ringing jobs would be handed out—gone the days of imported athletes—now only memories, the days of special examinations and juggled grades. It was like the dawning of a new day.

Coach Hart, Monmouth likes you and admires you for your courage—for the many victories which you have brought to her gates, but most of all for the fine program of clean athletics you have given her these many years. Monmouth tells you "God Speed" and "Thank You."
